Step 3

IBM Cloud

- inquire about the status of your ID
- request your account settings (including your personal information)
- at its option, convert it to an enterprise ID.

If your account was created as (or is converted to) an enterprise ID, your organization manages your account information. It is also the authenticating agency for your ID, meaning your access is controlled by your organization's login service.

About your IBMid Account Privacy

☒ I acknowledge that I understand how IBM is using my Basic Personal Data and (if applicable) how my organization may become the authenticating agency for my IBMid account. I certify that my age is at least the age of consent for my country of residence.

Step 4

The screenshot displays the IBM Cloud Catalog web application. The browser's address bar shows the URL `cloud.ibm.com/catalog`. The page header includes the IBM Cloud logo, a search bar, and navigation links for 'Catalog', 'Manage', and 'Sanjay m's Account'. Below the header, there's a large illustration of a cityscape with various cloud services represented as buildings and icons. The main content area is titled 'Catalog' and features a search bar. On the left, a 'Category' sidebar lists various product categories with counts: Recommended products (6), Compute (29), Containers (9), Networking (30), Storage (20), AI / Machine Learning (17), and Analytics (10). The main area shows 'Viewing 205 products' and a list of three featured products: 'Analytics Engine' by IBM, 'AnonTech ViziVault Platform' by Anon Technology, Inc., and 'API Connect' by IBM. Each product card includes a description, a list of features (e.g., 'Lite', 'Free', 'HIPAA Enabled', 'IAM-enabled', 'Third party supported'), and a 'Waiting for cloud.ibm.com...' status at the bottom. The bottom of the screen shows a Windows taskbar with various application icons and a system tray displaying the time as 11:58 AM and the weather as 30°C Cloudy.
